SAVING JONAH.

"Anything to save John Fellows?" is now the cry of the reckless County Democracy Bosses.

What do they care for the Presidential prospects? The national Democracy has become now been sacrificed in this city for the local offices.

What do they care for the State ticket?
The political plums at Albany are few in number and meagre in size. The party interest of the Bosses is measured by the pickings and stealings.

And what do the Boodlers care for the rest of the county ticket? The District-Attorney is the man who, in the stirring words of Warden "Fatty" Walsh, can liberally "temper justice with mercy" and tell the public thieves "to go home and sin no more."

Shall Jonah or the Ship be saved?

WHO HAS CHANGED?

Three weeks ago the press of this city was practically unanimous in urging the merited promotion of Dr. LANCEY NICOLL to the head of the office in which he has been the ablest and most efficient assistant.

Three weeks ago the business and professional men of the city, and all citizens who are interested in good government, were unanimous, so far as interviewed, in support of NICOLL.

The character and services of all the possible candidates were as well known then as they are now. The public was familiar with the management of the Boodler trials. Why was every voice for NICOLL and none for FELLOWS?

What has happened since? Seven officeholders, at the dictation of one Boss, have said that the people shall not have NICOLL.
Two newspapers have abandoned him for confessed or palpable jealousy. Are these sufficient reasons for knitting NICOLL? It is for the people to say.

BOGUS ALL THROUGH.

The campaign of the Bosses started with a fraud and continues with falsehood.
Bogus interviews with NICOLL and CON-SUMING, bogus claims as to the President, bogus reports of Republican defection, bogus versions of the reasons for opposing FELLOWS—these are the stocks in trade of the office-holding junta and its gangrened newspapers.
"False in one, false in all."

THE DANGER.

What GEORGE ELIOT said of the moral realm is just as true of politics: "Consequences are unifying."

The consequences of the attempt of the Bosses to force an unacceptable District-Attorney upon the people will, if persisted in, prove disastrous to the Democratic party.
The Democratic voters, whose only interest in politics is to secure good government, are getting mad. They rejected the order of the Bosses to take the bad with the good on the local ticket. They would rather be right than be "regular." In their present temper these voters are likely to reject good and bad together, as a lesson to the Bosses to make good nominations only, and to respect the people's will.

Safety lies in withdrawing FELLOWS. When indignant voters strike at a ring ticket they are rather apt to smash the whole thing.
This is the present danger.

TRY A DETEST.

Mr. FRANCIS LINDE STRETON, a strong Administration man and intimate friend of Secretary WHITNEY, declines to serve as a Vice-President at the County Democracy ratification of FELLOWS's nomination.
Mr. L. ELLERY ANDERSON, heretofore high in the councils of the County Democracy, will also be conspicuous by his absence from the platform.

Mr. ANSON PHILIPS STOKES has declined to be there. So has Comptroller LOWE. So have scores of other prominent Democrats.
Why don't the County Bosses order a draft to secure some officers for the meeting?

THE CAMPAIGN OF DEFENSE.

From the onset the Boodlers and Bosses in this campaign have been on the defensive.
They have been so busy in making lame excuses and flimsy explanations that they have not advanced one solitary argument in their favor worthy the consideration of the intelligent voter.

But, as the court records plainly show, the defensive is their natural attitude.
The people are pushing the prosecution.

THE PRETENSE OF POVERTY.

Col. FELLOWS takes his cue from the flopping organs, and complains that he is opposed because he is "a poor man."

What nonsense! The opponents of Col.
FELLOWS are supporting men for office who are as poor as he is. They respect honorable poverty and the independence that goes with it.

But when a man is "poor" because he insists on spending $10,000 a year when he earns but $7,500; when he is kept "poor" by the claims of diamond dealers, wire merchants and purveyors of purple and blue linen; when poker chips eat into his income; when he is generous before he is just—is this the sort of poverty that entitles a man to respect and confidence?

A conventional "good fellow" is by the very quality of his "goodness" incapacitated for the stern duties of a public prosecutor.
There should be independence in the District-Attorney's office, with all that this implies.

THE INTEREST OF LABOR.

It is for the interest of Labor voters to have in the District-Attorney's office a man who will say to public plunderers, "No quarter!" instead of "Go and sin no more."

It is for the interest of Labor voters to have as public prosecutor a man whose rule of conduct has been and will be: "No distinction of persons in courts of justice, but the same law for rich and poor."

It is for the interest of Labor voters to break down bossism, to stop corruption, to encourage faithful public servants in doing their duty, and to keep the local government honest.

Therefore Labor voters should support NICOLL, and therefore thousands of them will do it.

THE MATTER WITH J. B.

A Tory Grand Jury at Wolverhampton, England, wants ANDREW CARNEGIE's book "Triumph of Democracy," withdrawn from the free library of that place because it is "a seditious and treasonable libel against the Queen."

It is not so much Mr. CARNEGIE's clever volume as the actual "triumphant democracy" on this side of the Atlantic that disturb the British Bourbons. The unjust and aristocratic English system is slowly but surely disintegrating in the light of our shining example of self-government.

And that's what the matter with Johnny Bull.

THE REAL TRAITORS.

The boodler sympathizers accuse NICOLL of treason to the Democracy in accepting the nominations tendered him.

The fact is that NICOLL was and is the emphatic choice of the Democratic masses of this city. The Ringsters had the label, but they cannot control the substance. Opposition to Bossism is faithfulness to genuine Democracy.

NICOLL abates not one iota of his Democracy. That is the distinct understanding.
He simply responds to an almost unanimous demand of the people. He who is faithful to the people is faithful to his party.

The real traitors to the Democracy are the boodling Bosses and the boodling Boodlers.
They sacrifice the party's best interests to the spirit of revenge. They are false to the public welfare, and therefore false to the Democracy.

These traitors will be rebuked.

The part taken by Col. FELLOWS in the war has no special relation to his unfitness for the District-Attorneyship. But when a Boodler's organ celebrates his "long fight for the Union," it is well to remark that this "fight" lasted only until Arkansas seceded, when Mr. FELLOWS, a Northern man, joined in the rebellion and fought against the Union until taken prisoner. The less said about this record the better.

THE EVENING WORLD's menu for "a dollar dinner for four" is very popular. If it could be accompanied with an equally good recipe for getting the dollar some people would doubtless appreciate it more. In the absence of a newer formula try the world-old one: Hard work.

O'Brien in prison will speak more forcibly for the cause of Ireland than could O'BRIEN at liberty. Home Rule seems to need many martyrs, but they are always at hand and cager for martyrdom in that good cause.

The Navy Department is unable to furnish the Quarantine authorities with the vessel desired. But there is no reason why the commission should not adopt and enforce some ironclad cholera regulations.

Of 158 horse-car drivers and conductors interviewed at random, 96 were for NICOLL, 51 for Post, and only 11 for FELLOWS. The horse-car men naturally know a good NICOLL when they see it.

The daily Flyper's twaddle against NICOLL is to its former vigorous support of him as toy torpedoes are to dynamite bombs.

The stupidest of all arguments is that the triumph of corrupt Bosses could strengthen the Democracy.

The Game of Bluff with the Boodler Shuffle and Desperate Deal will leave the gamblers "busted."

"We try lying ourselves," says the Morning Ananias. Oh, try something else. Try once to tell the truth.

To the innuendo-fingers: "Leave off your damnable faces and begin."

Mrs. POTTER's acting is a triumph of WORTH.

JUBILANT LABOR LEADERS.

THEY THINK THEY WILL GET ENOUGH OUT-SIDE VOTES TO WIN.

No Dishonesty or Boodle in Their Banks, They Say, and Believe That the Public Knows It—Henry George to Make a Great Cause of the City and Louis F. Post to Make Speeches—Meetings To-Night.

"We're whooping 'em up lively."
That was the expression made by Secretary Jacobus O'Neill to an EVENING WORLD reporter to-day at the headquarters of the United Labor party, No. 918 Broadway.
Their Assistant Secretary, James P. Degnan, followed it up this way:

"Our meetings last night were a surprise to the old party men. Over a thousand persons listened to Dr. McGlynn in Battery Park, and 'enthusiased' until the good priest went away. But the meeting at Cherry street and James slip went 1,000 better, and such cheering and enthusiasm you never saw from 2,000 men before."

All the candidates visited the Campaign Committee to-day, and failed encouragingly and hopelessly to the prospects of success.
Louis F. Post, the candidate for District-Attorney, is believed by labor men to have a fine chance to slip into Mr. Martine's shoes on Nov. 3, one of the most ambiguine is Mr. Post. He argued this to the reporter:

"I will get the entire Labor Party vote to begin with, and I believe it will be as large, if not larger, than last year. Then I think I will receive from disaffected Republicans and Democrats a percentage large enough to give me a good majority. Mind you, this is not a thing at the minimum. I believe the United Labor Party vote will be another surprise to everybody, and I shall not wonder if the entire ticket is carried. Old party men are burst, and there is nothing now but deals, deals and boodle between the old party managers. We make no trade and no deals.
The people know we are honest and they know we have a live issue that appeals to the good sense and intelligence of every man and woman. We have but one aim and that is to beat the ruling masses and stop their impoverishment."

Mr. Post was engaged every night in addressing half a dozen meetings in different parts of the city.

Henry George will speak to-night at these places:

Twenty-third Assembly District—Salzer's Music Hall, corner Second avenue and 126th street.

Seventeenth and Twenty-first districts, joint meeting—Broadway and Forty-seventh street.

Twenty-second District—First avenue and Sixty-third street.

Nineteenth District—No. 832 Ninth avenue, Twenty-fourth District—Third avenue and One Hundred and Forty-seventh street.

Mrs. George, Post and George will meet at the last mentioned meeting at the close of the evening.

Dr. McGlynn speaks to-night at Dunkirk and will return in time to resume his speeches in this city to-morrow night.

The Campaign Committee has decided to have no parade on Saturday night, and will employ the time of the speakers in the various districts.

All the arrangements for the big mass meeting in Cooper Union hall on Friday evening have been made.

A large meeting is to be held in Paradise Park to-morrow night, when Henry George will speak to the Italian voters.

Meetings are to be held to-night in the Twentieth, Twelfth, Eighth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Ninth, Fourth and Tenth Assembly districts.

MRS. HICKS-LORE'S TERRIER LOST.

Jack Suddenly Vanishes in the Course of a Stroll in Washington Square.

Since Sunday night last there has been mourning at 32 Washington square, the residence of Mrs. Hicks-Lore, Jack, the pet and idol of the household, has disappeared.
Jack is a terrier, and more a terrier.
Of the bull species and pure white, except for two lustrous yellow spots just above his eyes.
His pedigree is not known, but he is believed to be of aristocratic birth, for after his daily morning bath his ears, which he still possesses, are "so transparent" you can see through them, as Mr. Littleton Sewell, Jack's usual keeper, said to an EVENING WORLD reporter to-day.

In addition to the eugenic Jack he received the name of Hicks-Lore when he was presented to Mrs. Hicks-Lore on May last by the owner of Jack's father. Since May handsome Jack has been daily growing in the affections of the household, and his disappearance is every grace that a terrier is heir to. He was petted, pampered, fondled, fed, bathed and brushed, and now he has disappeared.

Early Sunday evening Mr. Jack went for a short walk in the Square. He was accompanied by Sewell and seemed to be in even better spirits than usual. As the time drew near for their return home, Jack's joyfulness overcame his good manners and instead of proceeding sedately along "at heel," he bounded ahead and with gleaming yelpes capered off, now in this direction, now in that.

The tale told for Jack did not return, nor could Sewell tell where he was. The police have not been able to find him, and Mr. Hicks-Lore has offered a reward.

Besides his personal qualities, Jack was highly esteemed as a watch dog. Safeguards against burglars have been in demand in the house ever since Mrs. Hicks-Lore's valuable silverware was stolen about a year ago.

"BREAK THE MACHINE!"

Is there then nothing left to the people, to the mass of voters, besides either running with the machine or abrogating all their rights and duties as citizens? Yes, there is something left to the mass of the party—it is the veto power, and the veto power only. They can discharge the leaders and BREAK THE MACHINE—THEY CAN CHOOSE NEW LEADERS AND CONSTRUCT A NEW MACHINE. This is a properly organized party is their right, and it is the possession of this right and the performance of this duty which keep the machine in proper order and the leaders in accord with it and in subordination to the will of the people.—MATON HEWITT in his COOPER UNION SPEECH, DEC.
28, 1886.

The Flopping of the Flopper.

From the Evening World, Oct. 31.
It proposes to remove the County Democratic from the District-Attorney race to go into the city office a gentleman field with a winning intelligence, eloquence, tact, Nicoll's name and prudence for no other must be on it. If they reason, as far as we can leave his name off, they discover that he is a will put themselves into poor. The stream of out is now at every twenty miles and party needs for it will prove that the charge against Mr. Fello of the corruptness and lack of worth of attention, rights, the cause of justice in this city, are to be sacrificed for self and plunder.

A Cruel Blow.

From the Birmingham Republican.
The pepperunt growers have formed a pool to raise the price of that necessity. It is a direct and cruel blow at the infant industry of this country.

POLITICIANS COMPARE NOTES.

The Busy Hum of Conversation Overheard at the Political Clearing House.

UR local politicians are flying around in a lively fashion now-a-days, but they find time to drop in at the up-town hotels during the evening to compare notes. Here is what an EVENING WORLD reporter overheard last evening at the Hoffman House Political Clearing House:

"Nicoll will be elected."
"How will he do it?"
"Post will be elected."
"Is there a stick in the field?"
"Don't know; never hear one mentioned."
"The Labor party will poll 70,000 votes."
"Post for District-Attorney will poll more votes than George for Secretary of State."
"The fight is between Nicoll and Post."
"You can't buy the Labor vote."
"The Tammany people feel sure."
"It is a good year to look out for yourself."
"If Col. Fello withdraw from a boodler trial you don't see him withdrawing from a boodler trial."
"Every Republican who voted for Roosevelt or Hewitt will vote for Nicoll."
"There were 132,000 votes cast in this city in the last year, and of those 132,000 votes, 70,000 Republican votes, where does Fello stand?"
"The Labor people who voted solid for Postwarden and Post, their candidate for District-Attorney."
"That's so, Tammany Hall, County Democracy, Irving Hall and the Labor party all gave Post 120,000 votes."
"The cause of the increase over last year's votes is the principal cause of what stringency there may be in the market at the present time."

The increased freight charges caused by the passage of the Interstate Commerce law were taken into account, he thought that the figures for actual sales at tide-water by producers would not show an increase over last year's prices.
If there was a material advance it was due to the speculative operations of smaller dealers.

The wholesale manager of the wholesale firm of Whitney & Kemmerer, said that there was a scarcity of coal now and there would probably be still further advance in prices during the next two or three weeks.
The dealers at tide-water for domestic grades of coal ranged from $4.10 to $4.35 a ton as compared with $3.60 to $3.80 at the same time last year.

The cause of this was the greatly increased demand for coal in the West, which had made it necessary for the transportation companies to use all their cars.

The dealers here about three weeks or a month to get them back again, when they could be used for the tide-water trade. It was not the companies who were forcing up prices, but the consumers in the East, who were forcing up the price of the coal.

There had been a general neglect on the part of large consumers to get their coal in the summer and all the orders were piled up to get the coal up.

The railroads were now charging 20 cents more a ton than they did last year. It was not probable that prices would go down as low as last winter on this account.

As high as $5 or $6 a ton was offered now for coal alongside, but only in special cases.
Among people who buy coal by the pallid wholesale prices are very soon to be felt.
The small dealers pay $5.25 a ton for coal and sell it out at 11 cents a pallid, which gives them a profit of about $1.50 a ton. Poor people are apt to make trouble for the small dealers when the price of coal is increased one cent a pallid.

Dealers who were seen this morning by an EVENING WORLD reporter said that the present price would have to be advanced, as they could not afford to do business at a loss.

The present outlook in Brooklyn is a far from pleasant one. The large ten or twelve cent dealers, who have been advanced prices from $5.25 per ton for free burning coal to $5.50. For Lehigh coal they are charging $5.75. They all agree that owing to the limited supply of coal in the market prices will go still higher.

THE CASE OF THE S. SMYTH APPEALS.

Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court Must Settle the Andover Controversy.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) BOSTON, Nov. 1.—Before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, which is holding the term for Essex cases in Boston this forenoon, after the docket had been called, Hon. Charles Theodore Russell, of counsel for Prof. E. C. Smyth, the Andover professor who has been dismissed from Andover Theological Academy by a decree of the Board of Visitors of that institution, which has found him guilty of heresy, addressed the court, saying that he wished to enter the appeal.
The present outlook in Brooklyn is a far from pleasant one. The large ten or twelve
cent dealers, who have been advanced
to $5.50. For Lehigh coal they are charging $5.75. They all agree that owing to the limited supply of coal in the market prices will go still higher.

After Mr. Russell's remarks he consulted for a moment with Judge French, who is, of course, for the Visitors, and it was then stated by agreement between counsel the report on record would be filed by Dec. 1.
Chief Justice Morton then said that after the report was filed he would meet counsel and that it was for him to bring the case before the court.

The appeal, under the statute founding the academy, must be argued before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, sitting at the State House, and it is probable that it will probably take place some time in January, and the Court will endeavor to have the sitting in Boston.

Five Stock Destroyed by Fire.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) BURLINGTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—At 4 o'clock this morning the barns of Asher K. Pew at Woodlawn Station, near Mount Holly, were burned. Five horses, eleven calves and heifers and his entire crop of wheat, rye, oats and hay, were destroyed.
The barns, which were insured, were carried off by the flames and perished. Moral decal E. Butlerworth, Jr., of Camden, N. J., insured the barns for $75,000. The fire was of incidental origin.

Stowed the Train For a Purpose.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) LEBANON, Pa., Nov. 1.—A Reading Railroad freight train was stowed yesterday near Anville by a tramp. One of the stones hit Brakenham Clayton Bentz in the back. The tramp, who gave himself as George Foster, was captured. An inspector, who reached this city he knocked out Baggage-Master Mendon Book. He will be tried to-morrow. It is thought he wants comfortable quarters for the winter.

Death of a Woman Who Weighed 400 Lb.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
READING, Pa., Nov. 1.—Daniel K. Snyder, the heaviest woman in Berks County, died to-day in Fleetwood, aged sixty years. L. C. Kusenber, druggist, of Philadelphia, is one of her adopted sons. She weighed over four hundred pounds and was worth $75,000 in her own name.

Almost Smothered by Coal Gas.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) NEW HAVEN, Nov. 1.—Charles Fabrice, President of the Industrial School for Girls at Middletown, was found at his residence yesterday unconscious from the effects of coal gas. Physicians worked over him for seven or eight hours, and finally succeeded in reviving him.

Curious Weather on Cape Cod.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Nov. 1.—The weather on Cape Cod since early this morning has been very peculiar. A strong northeasterly wind has been blowing, accompanied by hail, rain and considerable fog.

NO FEAR OF A COAL FAMINE.

BIG DEALERS SAY THAT THE PRESENT SCARCITY WILL NOT LAST.

This Year's Product More Than Two Million Tons Ahead of Last Year—Furnaces of Freight Cars and the Interstate Commerce Law Given as Causes for the Trouble—The Poor First to Feel a Raise.

There is no danger, according to the larger wholesale dealers, of any prolonged scarcity of coal in New York this winter.
That there is great scarcity just at present, however, is generally admitted, and there are not a few who say that the stringency will be more severe before there is any easing up of the pressure.

According to a prominent official of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, which is also one of the largest producing companies in Pennsylvania, there can be no danger of a famine, because the actual production of the anthracite coal field up to Oct. 1 of the present year is 25,522,000 tons, as compared with 21,400,000 tons for the corresponding period last year, showing an increase of 2,112,000 tons for the present year, and the discrepancy during the past month has been decreased rather than diminished.

This, however, shows an enlarged demand for coal, and that there is a larger demand cannot be denied, but it is not sufficient to cause any real shortage.

The productive capacity of the mines is about 150,000 tons a day, while the actual output at the present time is only 120,000 tons a day. This is because there is a shortage of cars for transportation. And this is the principal cause of what stringency there may be in the market at the present time.

The increased freight charges caused by the passage of the Interstate Commerce law
the figures for actual sales
at tide-water by producers would not
show an increase over last year's prices.
smaller dealers.

The wholesale manager of the wholesale
firm of Whitney & Kemmerer, said that there was a scarcity of coal now and there would probably be still further advance in prices
during the next two or three weeks.
grades of coal ranged from $4.10 to $4.35 a ton as compared with $3.60 to $3.80 at the
